"Here we do not speak evil of anyone." This is a quote that St. Augustine had in his room after his conversion. He returned to Africa and lived in community with other friends and while he is known for his writings and the contributions he made to the Church of his time (and which continue to influence our times), it was his sense of living together in harmony that has influenced many religious communities. The above quote would be good for all of us to have in our classrooms and homes as a reminder of the importance of charity in our lives.
