

Sister's Spin

August 31, 2020

Tomorrow, September 1, begins what is now called the Season of Creation. It is a month--long celebration, begun in 1989, that encourages us to take a new look at the world of creation and to offer our thanks and praise to God for His gifts to us. It is also a time to look at ourselves and see what is our task as stewards of creation and how we can better care for this planet that has been entrusted to us. This Season of Creation begins on September 1 and continues to October 4, the feast of St. Francis of Assisi. Tomorrow is a Day of Prayer for Creation, so hopefully, all of us can find a little time to enjoy the beauty that surrounds us by taking a walk, enjoying the sun, feeling the breezes or just sitting quietly and thanking God for the gifts of creation.-- SM
