

Sister's Spin

September 11, 2020

Like most Americans of a certain age, on this anniversary of 911, thoughts come to mind about where I was and what I was doing when I heard the news of the tragic events of that day. There were many questions to answer from the children in my care at that time. It was important to realize that God was also in the midst of all the chaos--in the workers, the rescuers, and in the hearts of those who were praying for all the suffering people. In today's world, it is still important to realize that God is still with us in the chaos of our times. Let us turn to God and ask for understanding, courage, and growth in our Faith as we meet the challenges of today.
