

Sister's Spin

September 18, 2020

This Monday, September 21st, is the International Day of Peace. It is a day instituted by the United Nations in 1982 to encourage all people and all nations to work for peace. On that day, all are asked to set aside all conflicts and meet together in compassion and kindness to search out ways to end conflict and seek ways to avoid conflicts in the future. While resting and relaxing over the week-end, seeking ways of peace among family and friends is a good start to this important celebration on Monday. How can you be a peacemaker in your little corner of the world?
