

Sister's Spin

September 25, 2020

As one listens to the news and follows the daily tabulations on Covid victims, it is good to think about the saints of today--Cosmas and Damian. They were twin brothers and also physicians who served all who came to them without charge. At this time, it is good to ask these holy men to watch over all those in the medical field as they deal with viruses, shooting victims, and the search for cures. Pray for your doctor and nurses today and thank God for your good health as you look forward to enjoying a good fall weekend.

Sister Marcianne

