

Sister's Spin

October 2, 2020

On this feast of the Guardian Angels, perhaps the picture that comes to mind is the one of the angel protecting two little children as they cross a bridge over a river. But it is good to remember that your guardian angel is with you all the time--from the moment of conception to the day of your death. It is that angel that will lead you to the throne of God as you enter heaven. If you haven't had a conversation with this gift from God for some time, today may be a good day to do so.

- Sister Marcianne

