

Sister's Spin

November 17, 2020

These days of November, the Church recognizes the role of women as She celebrates some of her glorious women saints--Margaret of Scotland, Elizabeth of Hungary, and Gertrude the Great. These women were queens, wives, mothers and religious and used their talents to not only assist their families and communities to grow closer to God, but also their countries. They realized that all the good gifts given to them were not just for them alone, but to share with those they governed. It is a good reminder for us to pray for women today who serve their countries in so many ways and to inspire all people to use their talents given for the benefit of all. Like the faithful wife of last Sunday's reading and the servants who multiplied their talents, let us consider what our role is with what God has given to us.
