Sister's Spin

Good Morning, Everyone, and Happy 12th Day of Christmas! We are still in the Christmas Season and will be until the feast of the Baptism of our Lord, celebrated this coming Sunday, January 12. So, you can still wish your friends and family Merry Christmas! Today is the original feast of the Epiphany which the Church now celebrates on the Sunday closest to January 6th. A custom that is being revised in some places is the blessing of the home by marking the doorways of your home and various rooms with the year and the letters C, M, and B, interspersed with crosses. These letters stand for the words Christus Mansionem Benedicat, which translated means May God Bless This

House. The markings should look something like this: +20 + C + M + B + 20 +, and you can mark various rooms or just the entry ways of your home. Sprinkle your various rooms with holy water or burn a little incense in each room and ask for God's blessing and protection on your home and family in this New Year. Some people associate these letters with the traditional names of the wise men, but since there is no recorded listing of these names, the letters really stand for this Latin Blessing. Merry Little Christmas and Happy New Year!
