

Sister's Spin

September 2, 2021

This year, the Season of Creation has chosen for its symbol, a tent. This symbol was chosen to remind us of the openness of Abraham to strangers as told in the Book of Genesis. Abraham welcomed three visitors to his home and because of his gracious welcome, great things happened. The tent serves as a reminder that the earth is our common home and that we have a responsibility to be a welcoming people to all who enter into our "tent." Abraham's tent would have been open on all sides, indicating that everyone was welcome to pass through his desert home. Today's creation activity may be to take a few minutes and ponder how one welcomes others into one's home space--whether this is a classroom space, a kitchen space or any other place one finds oneself during the day or evening. Most especially, welcome God into your tent and remember that in welcoming others, you may be entertaining angels!
