

Sister's Spin

September 8, 2021

Today is somebody's birthday--somebody special, and a day to celebrate. It always amazes me when someone does not want a big deal made over their birthday. Birthdays are made to be celebrated. They remind us that God created each one of us in God's own image and likeness and gave each of us some very special gifts and talents. Birthdays celebrate who we are as a unique human being, called to reflect the wisdom and glory of God. God thought you were very special and placed you in this space and time--how great is that!. So, while today may be Mr. Magnafici's birthday and Rhett Oetting's birthday, it is also our Blessed Mother's birthday--one very special person who truly reflected the wisdom and glory of God. Happy Birthday to you, Blessed Mother, and to the rest of you, when your birthday rolls around, remember to celebrate the unique person God called you to be.
