

Sister's Spin

May 2, 2022

Jesus was a cook! And He probably enjoyed fixing meals for the Apostles. Mary and Joseph had taught Him well, and He enjoyed a good meal at the seashore occasionally, too. It is possible that the Holy Family took many trips to the seashore as a way of enjoying each other's company as Jesus was growing up. So now, after His resurrection, He prepares a great breakfast for His friends at the seashore. He brought the bread, fixed the fire, and all he needed was the fish--and He even provided for that. Reflecting on the breakfast on the beach, one can see both the humanity of Jesus as well as His divinity. He cares so much for these men who were with Him for the three years of His ministry. He talks with them, cooks for them, shares future events with them--all showing His love for them. Reflecting on these common actions can serve as a reminder to us that Jesus is also with us as we cook, relax at the beach, or in any of the little daily tasks we do. Like Peter, it is good to be ready to jump in and enjoy time with Jesus. You never know where you may find Him assisting you with your tasks this day.
