

Sister's Spin

May 6, 2022

The weekends of the Easter Season are usually given special titles--Divine Mercy Sunday, Good Shepherd Sunday, First Communion Sunday and so on. This Sunday is a little more secular--Mother's Day Sunday! It can easily be "religisized" by remembering our Blessed Mother--Mother of all Mothers! Many parishes do a special crowning of our Lady near Mother's Day to remind all of us that we have not one, but two mothers watching over us. I remember a teacher saying to me "You speak so well about your mother..." and she was talking to me about my birth mother. Her statement surprised me as I figured everyone had good things to say about their mother, but sometimes, that's not always the case, However, as a young sister at the time, I did have and still do have only good things to say about my mother. I would not be here if it weren't for her prayers and example. She fostered my vocation and I know for a fact that she prayed for me every day--and still does from above. I used to watch her pray her rosary (which I now own) and her example of prayer was very important in my life and vocation. I know that both my earthly mom and my heavenly Mother are still taking care of this child. As I celebrate them this weekend, I will ask our Blessed Mother to keep you in her prayers and that you who are mothers enjoy a beautiful day with your families.
