

Sister's Spin

May 17, 2022

Back in the 1950's, there was a popular song around graduation time called "Graduation Day," made popular by The Letterman. One of its lines was -- "...we'll remember always Graduation Day...". The song recalled some highlights and memories of what high school was like back then and the importance of friendships. As students in many schools prepare to graduate in these next few weeks, one may wonder what these students will remember of their high school years. Covid, war, shootings are front page news these days, and one cannot avoid hearing of these and how they affect life today. There is also the good sharing that has surfaced in the world today--the food drives, marathons run to raise money for war victims, items collected and sent, and people helping in so many different ways. Another line in that song refers to the fact that moving into the future, one will never be alone. It is my hope that graduates from this Catholic School and the surrounding schools remember that fact, too. In all these daily events, God is still in charge and walks with each of us, sharing the joys as well as the sorrows of each day. The graduation songs of today are far different from those of my time, but they still remind us that this is an important time in one's life--one that will always be remembered.
