

Sister's Spin

September 22, 2022

The Season of Creation is in its 4th week and the focus this week is on the Burning Bush--the symbol for this year. As fall sneaks its way into our lives, many will gather around fireplaces and outdoor campfires and the crackle of burning wood will be heard in those silent moments. Listening to the sounds of creation is part of the focus for this 4th week--chirping birds, honking geese, even the sound of falling leaves or the footsteps of those walking through the dried ones or the joyful sounds of those flying into a pile of those leaves all raked together. Those are the sounds of creation in the fall. We hear about the fires in many parts of our country--mostly disasters, but fire also has its good qualities, such as the joy of grilling hot dogs over an open flame, or roasting marshmallows and making s'mores. As this 4th week of creation moves on, it is good to take time to listen--to the birds, to the wind, to the good crackling of fire on a cool night. Maybe it will remind us of that Burning Bush that burned but was not destroyed, and of the God who spoke from the Bush.
